THE NEW PASTOR IN NEW CHURCH

The Rev. R. E. Smith preached his first sermon yesterday in the new Methodist church, corner of Beretania avenue and Victoria street. He took for his text Act 28, 15: "He thanked God and took courage." The sermon was largely devoted to discussion of the usefulness of the new church, and the hopes of the congregation that it will be a great power for good in the community. As a part of his concluding remarks the preacher said:

"Doctor Scudder, in his tender and fitting words of greeting at our dedication service last Sunday, expressed the conviction that there was ample room for another large church in our city. He thus suggested the truth that I am trying to emphasize. The only justification for this larger church building is the rendering of a larger service to the people of this city. Let us avoid the spirit and practise of proselytizing. Let us remember that Christ said, 'Feed My sheep,' and not 'Steal My sheep.' Let us in every honorable way seek to enlarge our borders, to increase our numbers, to strengthen our position, to enhance our influence, and to build up a church which shall be great in the best sense—as God counts greatness.

"Thus far we have been considering some reasons why we should thank God. In closing, permit me to suggest why we should take courage.

The Best Coming.
"We should take courage because the best is yet to be. I think there can be no reasonable doubt about this. In the past our work has been retarded by an unattractive and inadequate church building. Our people have long felt the need of a new and better building. Our dreams have been realized. Let us take courage because the future is full of promise, because God has given us so many friends outside our fold who pray for our prosperity, because the best is yet to be.

"Again, let us take courage because the Christ is deeply interested in our future as a church. Let us remember that the eye of the Master is upon us, that His tender, loving heart beats in full sympathy with us, that He has a profound interest in the growth of our church, that He is just as willing to help us in our work as a church as He was to help the apostles in founding the early church.

"In His message to the seven churches of Asia, Christ assured them that He knew their works, their patience, their tribulations, their charity, their faith, etc. In like manner He knows all about our problems as a church and takes just as keen an interest in our church as He did in the churches of Asia.

"Finally, let us take courage because at life's close we will leave the church militant for the church triumphant. After the toil of earth comes the rest of heaven; after the tumult—peace; after bearing the cross—the crown; after warfare—eternal victory. Let us be glad to plan, to toil, to sacrifice for the church militant, for one sweet day we will join the church triumphant, which is without spot or wrinkle before the throne of God."

TENNIS BEING REVIVED AS WEATHER IMPROVES.

This afternoon the final match in the tennis tournament for the championship of Oahu College will be played on the Alexander courts between E. Gibb and O. Hind. On the play in the preliminary rounds it is anticipated that an exciting encounter will result from the meeting between these two aspirants for championship honors. The winner of today's match will try conclusions with Atherton Richards, last year's winner, and can be depended upon to make a good showing, though Richards is expected to win out.

On Saturday afternoon the long neglected courts at Moana were brought into use again and two very interesting doubles games were played. In the first Walter Dillingham and Will Roth, who have been hitting the balls up in great style lately, met and defeated A. L. Castle and A. M. Nowell, two of the best doubles players here. The match was interesting from start to finish, but the Dillingham-Roth combination played better tennis, winning by 6-3, 6-4. The other game was between C. G. Bockus and Anderson, on the one side, and Atherton Richards and Jack Guard on the other. Anderson and Bockus won out after a long, tiring match, by 6-3, 10-8. The second set was a very hard contest, and winners and losers alike put up a fine struggle.

Owing to the length of time taken to complete the two matches played, the third match, in which the two win-

SONG AND SPEECH IN HONOR O' BURNS

With speeches, songs and music, the Scottish Thistle club of Honolulu celebrated the birthday of Robert Burns, in K. of P. hall Saturday night. Between two and three hundred people sat down to the refreshments and enjoyed the programme which, according to custom, consisted of Scottish songs, speeches about Burns and toasts in his honor. John Walker, chief of the club, presided.

The toast to the memory of Burns was responded to by Hon. John W. Cathcart, who made a very eloquent address. He sketched briefly the career of the famous poet, referring in touching terms to the hardships of his short life and the weaknesses that led to some of them. Cathcart had the rapt attention of his audience and was loudly applauded.

In response to "The President of the United States" Ed Towse delivered an interesting address, dealing in part with the duties of that high official. Towse was not very happy or graceful in his handling of an interruption from an enthusiast who wanted to propose a toast to Burns, but his speech made a very fine impression and was loudly applauded.

P. E. Tosh had "The Land o' Burns" and showed true Scotch enthusiasm in his handling of the topic. Many references to Scots, of both sexes, who occupy the highest places in world affairs made a highly interesting speech and caused frequent applause.

Specially interesting remarks were made by H. B. M. Consul Ralph G. E. Forster in response to "The King and Queen." He told during the course of his address of how the queen had received a report of the reception in Honolulu of the news of the death of the late King Edward, and had expressed her pleasure at the appreciation.

Owing to the lateness of the hour Daniel Logan cut short his remarks on "The Land We Live In" confining himself to a few sentences in suitable response to the chairman's call.

ning pairs were to have competed was abandoned.

Tennis will take up a great deal of time from now onwards, for the Wall and the E. O. Hall cups are soon to be competed for and players will have to hustle along to get into condition.

The singing was excellent and produced great enthusiasm.

It included: "There Was a Lad Was Born in Kyle," D. W. Anderson; "Scots Wha Hae," Philip C. Hall; "The Land o' the Leal," S. G. Livingston; "Scotland," James F. Fenwick; "Mary o' Argyll," E. C. Vaughan; "God Save the King," "O for a Breath of the Moorlands," C. G. Livingston; "Loch Lomond," Philip C. Hall; "Annie Laurie," E. C. Vaughan; "The March of the Cameron Men," Captain J. R. Parker; Auld Lang Syne. The accompanists were H. H. Macfarlane and Kenneth B. Barnes.

Violin selections by W. A. Love were another fine feature of the entertainment.

TAFT'S OPIUM RECOMMENDATION

WASHINGTON, January 11.—President Taft sent to Congress today a special message urging legislation more effectually to prevent the importation of opium into the United States. The President suggests the amendment of the opium exclusion act of February 9 1909 so as to prohibit any vessel engaged in trade from any foreign port to any port in the United States or its territorial possessions from carrying opium prepared for smoking. The President also wants Congress to make it unlawful to export opium or cocaine from the United States or its territories to any country which prohibits or regulates the entry of these drugs. He suggests further the placing of a prohibitive internal revenue tax on all opium manufactured in the United States from domestically produced material and asks for legislation to control the manufacture, distribution in interstate commerce and importation of opium, morphine, cocaine and other habits-forming drugs.
